REAL TIME: FROM THE AFFILIATES*The Network Works: Proven International Web Reach

An English barrister working 12-hour days in the Middle East found his dream property in Brazil through www.christiesgreatestates.com. "I had been looking for a home for nearly two years, when a friend recommended the Christie's Great Estates Web site," says Stuart Frost, the new owner of Fazanda Santa Luiza, an estate that dates to 1870 and is sited on 59 acres. "After months scanning uninspiring and dodgy offerings, the Christie's site was a welcome discovery. I exchanged only a few e-mails with Judice & Araujo Imóveis and found myself on a plane to Brazil. The service could not have been better. Three weeks later, I am the owner—or more accurately, the custodian—of the most wonderful house. It looked amazing on the Web site, but nothing could have prepared me for the magic of the place."
